SUNYLA Happenings

By Marianne Eimer, President

Let me start by welcoming all of you to a new semester, and a new year for the SUNYLA organization. I would like to introduce myself, to those of you I have not had the privilege of meeting in person. I am from SUNY Fredonia, where I am the Head of Reference and Bibliographic Instruction. Along with teaching and performing reference desk duties, I oversee the Reference department and the Bibliographic Instruction program with 4 librarians assigned to this area, and 5 additional librarians who also participate on a limited basis.

This past summer we received good news from the SUNY FACT Advisory Council and the Planning Committee for the Conference on Instructional Technologies (CIT) 2003 annual conference. Due to its overwhelming success from last year's conference, SUNYLA has once again been invited to direct the planning of the Information Literacy Track this coming year in Potsdam. This track is dedicated to issues on information literacy, with past SUNYLA President Gretchen Douglas in charge this year of guiding the planning and session selection for this track. This provides an excellent opportunity for librarians currently working jointly with their faculty colleagues to educate those faculty who have not yet undertaken any such efforts in introducing information literacy competencies into their coursework. Keep in mind that CIT is the largest technology conference in SUNY. This conference affords SUNY librarians a venue for presenting existing efforts of librarian/faculty cooperation which demonstrate the fulfillment of standards required for information literacy competency. Look for more information on this upcoming event in future issues.

As previously reported in this newsletter, SUNY institutions are participating in a statewide collaborative effort that brings together the 65 SUNY libraries, 19 CUNY libraries, and approximately 185 private college libraries, which has been titled the Higher Education Initiative. The purpose of this collaboration is to foster a joint negotiation of database licensing, and also explore and promote new methods of scholarly communication. On a positive note, the organizational structure is moving forward, with the financial plan in place, and a draft of the bylaws ready for consideration. In these times of shrinking budgets and greater information needs, these efforts will be most beneficial in furthering our goals as SUNY librarians, directly influencing the access our libraries offer to quality resources.

We have a new organization to welcome to SUNY libraries. Recently, with the help of the SUNYLA organization, the State University of New York Aleph Users Group came into existence. Otherwise known as the SUNYAUG, this group intends to provide a forum for the support of all New York state institutions which are participating in the implementation of the ALEPH library management system produced by ExLibris. The discussion of enhancement issues, training and workshops for members, and establishing a network of communication with the Office of Library and Information Services (OLIS), the North American Aleph Users' Group (NAAUG), and ExLibris are some of its goals. With the SUNYConnect efforts towards uniting all SUNY libraries by utilizing a common library management system well under way, it is now time for those campuses which have the ALEPH system functioning to step forward and help pave the way for the remaining campuses. This organization provides a more formal setting for collegial networking which will be devoted to ALEPH issues. I would encourage all SUNYLA members to participate as fully as possible in the activities sponsored by SUNYAUG, which after all, are focusing on improving campus OPAC environments. In fact, the eleven campuses that are part of Group 3 have begun their ALEPH implementation.

Also noteworthy is that the SFX software for linking online resources is now in production at the three pilot sites, Binghamton, Cobleskill, and Fredonia. SFX is considered to offer a viable solution for linking online resources in a consortial setting, and is being introduced into SUNY through SUNYConnect initiatives.

Alfred State College

Joseph Petrick

petricja@alfredstate.edu

Alfred State College and Alfred University announced in May that they are exploring a consolidation of the two institutions. A consolidation has the potential for creating a comprehensive public/private university with more than 5,000 students. The State University of New York has hired the Education Alliance, a Boston-based consulting company, to assist the two institutions through negotiations.

Alfred State College began in 1908 as the New York State School of Agriculture at Alfred University. Like the State University of New York College of Ceramics at Alfred University, it was a state-funded division of Alfred University. In 1948 it became part of the State University of New York.

One of the intentions of consolidation talks announced by Alfred State College President William Rezak in May was that a consolidation would reduce administrative costs. Another purpose would be to resolve the name-identity conflict resulting from two institutions with similar names across the street from each other.

In August it was announced that Alfred State College might become a statutory unit of Alfred University in a way similar to, but not the same as, the Ceramics College at Alfred, or the four SUNY units administered by Cornell University. Other models have been under consideration.

A decision on whether or not to consolidate will be made by late 2002. If the two institutions agree to consolidate, the State University of New York would have to approve the plan, before it would go to the New York State Legislature.

Librarians at the three academic libraries in Alfred (the Hinkle Library at Alfred State College, Herrick Library at Alfred University, and Scholes Library at SUNY Ceramics) will soon be meeting to discuss additional means of cooperation.

Grants:

The Hinkle Memorial Library at Alfred State College has received grants totaling $20,000 from the Western New York Foundation, the Allegany County Area Foundation, and other institutions to expand and renovate its recently renamed Jean B. Lang Western New York Historical Collection.

Publications:

Joseph Petrick, Technical Services Coordinator, has published "Electronic Resources and Acquisitions Budgets: SUNY Statistics, 1994-2000" in Collection Building, Vol. 21, No. 3, 2002.

Joseph Petrick will give a presentation entitled "Library Services for Adult Learners" at the 21st Annual Adult Learners on Campus National Conference

Cobleskill

April Davies

daviesAC@cobleskill.edu

Staff News :

We are pleased to welcome two new additions to the SUNY Cobleskill family: Kelly MacWatters as Automation & Circulation Librarian, and Steve Dixon as Adjunct Reference Librarian

Instruction Librarian Fran Apollo recently returned from Immersion '02 (Track 1) at the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. Immersion is an intensive 4.5 day teaching institute for instruction librarians sponsored by the Association of College & Research Libraries.

This highly competitive, invitational institute covers many topics including the psychology of learning, presentation techniques, assessment, and moving from bibliographic instruction to information literacy. Since SUNY Cobleskill is about to begin our 4th academic year of embedding information literacy into the curriculum this was one of the most valuable issues for our campus.

General Education requirements, accreditation boards and sound instruction methods were recurring themes among the librarians who are helping their institutions move in the direction that we took in August 1999. The faculty at Immersion, nationally known librarians and teachers, confirm that SUNY Cobleskill is on the right track!

The Early Childhood division is the first to benefit from the material and enthusiasm that Fran has brought "home." Fran and Nancy Van Deusen have created a handbook to assist the teaching faculty in incorporating Information Literacy; complete with several assignments. They are also asking ECHD faculty to indicate specific skills required in each class so that they can suggest, or create, assignments to help reinforce the importance of such skills across the entire program.

Every division will have an opportunity to tap into these reinvigorated efforts during the next few months. For those of you who don't want to wait, take a look at the Information Literacy tutorial we've added to our website (www.cobleskill.edu/library/infolit/home.htm).

Instruction Librarian Fran Apollo is well known for helping classroom faculty design effective research assignments. We've taken a number of her assignment templates and added them to the faculty area of our website (www.cobleskill.edu/library).

The various assignments address: citation formats; evaluating information from websites; defining paper topics; the difference between magazines and journals; how to search online databases; and so much more. Please, take a few minutes and check out this valuable resource.

Other:

The passage of the USA PATRIOT Act in Oct. 2001 made for a lot of questions regarding the privacy of our records. The Library has completed a review of our policies regarding retention and disclosure of information and we are prepared to deal with any questions that may arise in this area. A packet has been put together which includes our current policies and some background material. It will be available at the Circulation Desk if anyone would like to see it.

New !! Reference Desk

Have you been to Memorial Library's Reference Area lately? You'll be in for a big surprise if you haven't. The old office desk and credenza have been replaced with a newly designed and implemented Reference Desk.

At the end of 2001, the Library Faculty, through their Reference Public Services Committee under the leadership of Lorraine Melita, decided to look at ways to improve the Reference facilities. A Reference Area Working Group chaired by Ellen McCabe and including Gretchen Herrmann and Marc Wildman, was established to make recommendations and suggestions regarding the Reference area in general and the Reference desk in particular.

It was felt that an arrangement that would provide greater initial eye contact with patrons entering the Reference area would be most beneficial, and provision was made for two levels of contact, and the availability of three workstations at the Reference desk. This would allow ample room for a Library Reference Assistant and a Librarian to work side by side. When a design was mutually agreed upon by the librarians, several vendors were contacted for quotes and modified designs for the Reference desk.

The desk was sketched out, ordered from and assembled by Upstate Office Furniture of Binghamton. They had provided numerous samples and descriptions, modified designs, prompt responses and a willingness to answer questions.

The desk is designed in lovely oak finish to blend in with existing furniture. New chairs coordinate with the blue carpeting. The addition of flat screen monitors provides less obstruction and more eye contact between the patron and the librarian.

Our Reference area is located on the second floor of Memorial Library. It's a new look! We'll be seeing you at Reference.

Staff News:

The staff of the Ammerman campus library is happy to welcome two new full-time librarians for the Fall 2002 semester.

Marya Shepherd, who has worked as an adjunct at the SCCC library since 1995, comes to us with experience as an academic reference librarian, a periodicals librarian and a database/automation consultant. She holds a B.A. in Psychology, an M.S. in Education and an M.L.S. in Library and Information Science.

Becky Turner Perez joins us from SUNY Old Westbury where she was a reference librarian for five years. She has a B.A. in English and an M.L.S. in Library and Information Science. She's currently pursuing an M.A. in English at Long Island University. Becky is SCCC library's new SUNYLA delegate.

We are also happy to welcome Hedi BenAicha to the position of Campus Head Librarian and College Associate Dean of Libraries and Learning Resources. Hedi came to the Ammerman Campus as Associate Head Librarian two years ago. He also teaches as an adjunct in the SCCC History Department.

Professional Activities & Publications:

Lisa Meléndez, Associate Professor of Library Services at the SCCC Ammerman campus library, traveled to Cuba in February 2002 as part of a library tour organized by the Canada-Cuba Friendship Association. In addition to meeting with librarians at public and university libraries, the group met with Dr. Eliades Acosta, the Director of La Biblioteca Nacional José Martí, and Dr. Marta Terry, the President of the Cuba Library Association. Tour members visited El Instituto del Libro Cubano, the 11th International Book Festival in Havana, Ediciones Vigías, a publishing house for handmade books in Matanzas, and, of course, a cigar factory.

Prof. Meléndez has also made contributions to the forthcoming Latinas in the U.S.: An Historical Encyclopedia.

Gerald Reminick, Professor of Library Services at the SCCC Western campus library, has published his third book, Death's Railway, about the contributions of the Merchant Marine in World War II. Death's Railway tells the true story of an American POW and his comrades taken prisoner first by the Germans, then the Japanese, who forced them into slave labor on the Burma-Siam Railroad on the Kwai River. The enthusiastic reception of Patriots and Heroes, Professor Reminick's first book, encouraged him to write the second and third volumes of World War II merchant marine stories.

Congratulations and many thanks go to all the campus delegates (as well as all SUNYLA members, of course!) for reaching our 2001-2002 membership goal of 450. In fact, membership totals added up to 452 by the start of the annual conference at Buffalo State College. Great job everyone! The Membership Development Committee hopes to attain the same goal for 2002-2003, so keep up the good work!

Spend a Week in June on Long Island

Picture yourself on the beach, getting an early start on your summer tan. The sky is clear and blue and the sun is shining brightly. Or perhaps, you'd rather be taking tours. There are 21 wineries on Long Island, so it may take a while to visit them all or sample some of the 3 million bottles of wine produced annually on Long Island.

Or there's a view of Long Island's rural heritage at Old Bethpage Restoration Village, the historic carriage collection at the Long Island Museum of American Art, History & Carriages in Stony Brook, Teddy Roosevelt's summer home at Sagamore Hill, or a drive along the Long Island Heritage Trail for the history buffs. See how the rich used to live at Old Westbury Gardens (the Phipps estate) or the Vanderbilt Museum and Planetarium.

Take a whale watch, camp in one of our state parks, or go deep-sea fishing. See a live stage production in Port Jefferson, Bohemia, or Farmingdale or see summer stock in Bellport. Listen to live music at Jones Beach State Park or Old Westbury Music Fair. Check what's playing at the Staller Center for the Arts at Stony Brook University, Old Westbury's Maguire Theater, or one of the many private colleges on Long Island. Visit the Planting Fields Arboretum or the Montauk Lighthouse. Or see friends, relatives, or your alma mater on Long Island.

There's a lot to do on Long Island, but be sure to schedule a stop at the 2003 SUNYLA Conference at Stony Brook University, June 4-6, 2003. Be a presenter or learn something new from your colleagues. Network with librarians statewide. It's been more than 20 years since SUNYLA visited Stony Brook and the libraries have many improvements to show you. Whether you fly into Islip Macarthur Airport, take the ferry from Bridgeport, Connecticut to nearby Port Jefferson, or drive, take the time to enjoy the conference and Long Island for a fun week in June of 2003. We'll be expecting you!
